THE G. A. R. BEANBAKE

It Was a Success From Start to Finish.

COMMANDER TOWNSEND'S TALK

Was Intensely Interesting—The Rink Was the Scene of Many Gratiifying Features, and All Present Enjoyed Themselves. The Anniversary of Lee's Surrender.

The bean bake given by the Grand Army, Sons of Veterans and Womens Relief Corps, in the rink last night was well attended and enjoyed by all. The multitude began to flock in during the early evening, partaking of a substantial supper given by the societies, and spending the time promenading until the hour for the exercises.

The rink was prettily decorated and accommodations were provided for all those present. There was no lack of table room, and the ladies dispensed ice cream, cake and other delicacies in an attentive manner, while music from the Girls' Band tended to enliven the occasion.

At 8 o'clock, the time for the exercises, Comrade Alex. McGraw stepped to the front of the platform and invited all the veterans to be seated on the stage. The chairs were soon occupied, and after a few words the comrade announced "Marching Through Georgia," by the Grand Army choir. Then prayer was offered up, asking a blessing on the nation and its government. Department Commander Townsend was next introduced in a neat speech, and began an interesting discourse on the rise of nations to freedom and self government. He touched on the awful carnage of the different wars, the bravery and patriotism displayed by those who loved freedom and deplored monarchy, and cited innumerable anecdotes of the gallant fight of the Patriots at Bunker Hill, and gave intensely interesting phases of the late war. Mr. Townsend gave figures showing the thousands of country-loving citizens who left their homes and loved ones to battle for the stars and stripes, never to return. He finished his address by a talk to the Women's Relief corps, commenting on the noble work in which they were engaged, amid great applause. So wrapped up was he in his subject that he forgot the fleeting hours, and utilized far more time than was his intention.

Colonel Hill was then called upon, and in a few words presented Commander Townsend with a handsome cake from the Womens' Relief Corps, adorned with the emblems of the Grand Army. The recipient responded in a witty manner, saying that the good women were far more sweet than the cake.

The audience then made for the tables and were served by the ladies. The beanbake was a success from start to finish, and no one went away disappointed. The celebration was given in commemoration of Lee's surrender at Appomattox court house.

A HIGH TARIFF

Is Necessary if American Manufacturers Expect to Live.

A glassworker has the following to say in regard to the low tariff which will eventually wreck our American industries:

"What is to become of our manufacturing industries if we continue as we are going I cannot tell. It seems as though the bottom was knocked out of all profits in the glass manufacture in order to meet the low price of imported ware. It now looks as though the American mechanics will be compelled hereafter to work for about the same wages as they do in Europe. The way that the government is running in debt, it will soon be as long as our war debt was, and the loss to our industries is enormous—all for what? To prove that free trade is a failure."

BILL FARMER AGAIN.

Bad Boys in the West End Irritated Him and He Was Angry.

Bill Farmer is being abused again. Yesterday afternoon a number of bad boys in the West End followed William and made life very miserable for him. Bill gave chase to his tormentors, but the youthful mischief-makers easily eluded the victim of their mischief, and tauntingly commenced to yell "Rambo potatoes," which Bill said was adding insult to injury.

Taken Ill.

Quinn Fowler, who is serving on the jury in Lisbon, was taken seriously ill this morning by an attack of heart trouble, and the sensational damage case which is attracting much attention at the county seat, was postponed until Mr. Fowler recovers. At last accounts he was getting along nicely under the care of a physician, and is expected to occupy his place in the jury box this afternoon.

MAY BE A GUSHER.

A Quality of Sand Struck That Indicates the Presence of Oil.

H. W. Allison, formerly a packer at the Dresden pottery, recently leased several acres of territory at Middle Run, across the river. Two months ago work was commenced, drilling for oil and the prospects are bright for a gusher. Mr. Allison was in the city yesterday, and stated that the well is now drilled to a depth of 800 feet, and a quantity of sand has been struck similar to that found in the Sistersville field. He secured the services of John Hailes, who is an expert in oil matters, to inspect the quality of the sand discovered. The gentleman pronounced it the same as that always found preceding the striking of oil, and Mr. Allison is elated as a result. Several accidents have tended to handicap the progress of the work, but a good strike is expected in sometime next week. This sand was discovered at a depth of 800 feet, while that of the Sistersville field is secured at a depth of 1,120 feet. A deep vein of glass rock was also encountered.

TEAM LINEUP.

The Nine That Will be Attired in Clown Costume.

The base ball club recently organized for the purpose of touring around the neighboring towns and giving burlesque exhibitions, in grotesque costumes, of the national game, at the last meeting adopted the name S. G. V. C. for their team. The various players were also assigned to their respective positions. The boys say that every effort will be put forth by them to win in their horsehide and willow contests.

John Graham has been selected as manager, and the lineup of the team is as follows: Catchers, Finch and Sheppard; pitchers, Tolbert and W. Carey, first base, J. Carey; second base, J. Kennedy; third base, T. Twaddle; short, A. Geisz; left, C. Fry; center, C. Dawson; right, R. E. Dorsey.

The team will be pleased to hear from any outside club for the arrangement of games.

DON'T READ THIS.

Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists. Make Your Marks.

The following communication, taken from the Review of 1890, speaks of the then mayor, John W. Hall, and an admirer of Mr. Hall, a staunch and consistent member of the Democracy—the better class—requests the manager of the News Review to republish it:

"Those saloonists who counted upon the passive support or countenance of Mayor Hall, because he was of the Democratic faith, have lately been doomed to sad disappointment. In his honor's efforts to bring the law to bear upon this class, who cannot continue their business in strict compliance with the laws of the city and state with profit to those in the business, he is deserving of the support of every law-abiding and order-loving citizen."

WATER WORKS TRUSTEES.

Met Yesterday Afternoon and Re-organized.

The water works trustees met yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the secretary's office and finished up the business for the year. Mr. Kerr stepped down and out, and Mr. Shenkel took his seat. The new board then organized by electing the following officers: President, J. W. Harris; superintendent, Philip Morley; assistant superintendent, Edward Cox; secretary, J. N. Gipper. A few bills were passed upon and the board adjourned.

WITHOUT FOUNDATION

Was the Report in Wellsburg That Bough Would Protest.

A report became current in Wellsburg yesterday that C. F. Bough, the defeated Prohibition candidate for mayorality honors in this city, would contest the recent municipal election on the ground of alleged existence of certain technicalities and illegal work said to have taken place at the polls. Mr. Bough was seen and stated that the impression sent out was an erroneous one, without any semblance of reliability.

Improving.

Mrs. Archie Searight, of East End, is able to sit up, after an illness of 11 weeks.

BEATEN AND ROBBED

Philip Bealer Is Relieved of Twenty-Eight Dollars.

TWO FOOTPADS DO THE DEED

Bealer Thinks He Knows Who His Assaultants Were, and May Make Information. The Robbers Ran Up Cook Street, but Had Too Great a Lead to Pursue.

Last night about 10 o'clock the residents of Walnut and Cook streets were startled by cries of "Help! murder! police!" etc.

Philip Bealer, while on his way home, was encountered by two men at the corner of Cook and Walnut streets, and knocked down and robbed. His assailants stepped from a dark corner of the street, and in less time than it takes to note the occurrence, Philip was lying on the ground, having been struck with some blunt instrument, and had his pockets rifled of about $28. As soon as he recovered from his dazed condition he shouted for help, and a young man, who was strolling on the street with a lady friend, ran to his assistance. Bealer was covered with mud from head to foot and his pockets were turned inside out. Two men were noticed running up Cook street at a rapid gait, but were too far away to begin pursuit. Bealer thinks he knows who his assailants were, but refuses to divulge their names until he secures more evidence. About 75 cents and a door key were found where the robbery occurred, having been dropped by the robbers in their hurry, but that is all that remains of the unfortunate man's money. With the exception of a few hard bumps the man was uninjured. He says he will report the matter to the police, if he can get more positive proof of the guilt of the two suspects.

A. D. Eidner, a cobbler on Cook street, was attracted by the cries, and rushed to the rescue, but was in turn put to flight by the robbers, who chased him into his shop. Nothing undaunted, the footpads entered the room and Eidner ran out the back door and proceeded to police headquarters. Two officers hurried to the scene, but a diligent search revealed no trace of the burglars.

GONE TO THE WALL.

A Large Pottery and Sewer Pipe Works Suspend.

The big South Francisco pottery and sewer pipe works of Steiger Bros. in California has gone to the wall, and the many creditors are wondering where the coin to satisfy their claim is coming from.

Over $100,000 was invested in the works and it was considered the best of its kind in the state, but their product was not considered first class, and an enormous consignment of sewer pipe was returned to the manufacturers, which, in connection with the demands of the employees for their pay, which had been deferred from week to week, drove the company to the wall.

The management think they will soon have sufficient capital to again resume operations, and to carry out large contracts, which amount to nearly $400,000.

SHOULD HAVE A PHONE.

Many Cases are Not Reported Within the Specified Time.

The doctors of the city think the telephone should be kept in the office of the health officer. The board of health laws require that all doctors must report any and all cases within twenty-four hours after their services are required. In many instances this would be impossible, as they would have to resort to the mails and the letter might not be received within the allotted time. Dr. Probst says that a contagious disease is like a fire, and if not given prompt attention is likely to spread. The doctors think the board of health should keep the telephone in the health officer's residence and thus avoid the spreading of contagious diseases.

AN ENTERTAINMENT.

A Pleading Program Carried Out at St. Aloysius.

The entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid and Literary Society of St. Aloysius church in Bradshaw's hall, was well attended and a pleasing program carried out. A neat sum was realized from the entertainment, and the ladies are pleased with their success. Miss Geon rendered a recitation in a manner that showed excellent elocutionary talent, and Miss Stack sang two solos which were heartily applauded. A recitation by Miss Bessie Ashbaugh came in for a share of applause, and on encore, favored the audience with a second selection. All the other numbers were well given and appreciated.

THE MCKINLEY CLUB.

Met Last Night and Transacted Considerable Business.

The McKinley club had a good turnout at their meeting last night. A motion was made and carried that the club be incorporated under the laws of the state, and individual members will not be responsible for any debts that may be incurred by the club. The secretary was instructed to at once secure the necessary incorporation papers.

The committee in charge of the St. Louis trip reported encouraging progress. Fifteen berths were taken by Salem parties who are desirous of joining the boys. The committee ask that those who have signified their intention of making the trip will at once secure their berths before it is too late. The number of excursionists has been limited to 175, but arrangements can be made for a larger number if necessary.

It is the intention to increase the membership to 500 if possible, and an earnest invitation is extended to the young voters of the city, and neighboring cities, to add their names to the list. The club is in a flourishing condition and a number of new names are being added at each meeting. The enjoyment furnished at the rooms, and a thorough knowledge of the rise and progress of Republicanism, is in itself sufficient remuneration for the small dues charged. Come into the ranks.

ALMOST A FIGHT.

A Porter and a Traveling Man Have a Difference.

At the Cleveland and Pittsburg passenger depot today those who were waiting on the noon train were treated to a little diversion from the ordinary routine state of quietness that usually prevails around that place. A colored porter of a local hostelry and a commercial traveler differed upon some point of a transaction that had taken place between them.

The porter felt that he had been imposed upon, and he declared himself in no uncertain terms. To these mild and meek overtures, the traveling man responded in a manner that excited the ire of the porter, and he then made a strenuous effort to get at the traveling man and wipe the ground up with him, which, in all probability, he would have done but for the timely intervention of an attaché of the depot.

FIGHT IN AN OFFICE.

Two Young Men Exchange Many Ineffective Blows.

The hall way of an uptown business office was the scene of a terrific battle at an early hour this afternoon and many blows were exchanged, but fortunately little blood was spilled. The altercation started over an insinuation that one of the men claimed was directed at him, and hot words ensued, which resulted in a pitched battle. Other employees rushed to the scene and succeeded in parting the two, receiving innumerable scratches in their efforts to quell the disturbance. After consideration, apologies were exchanged, and the men shook hands, deploring the unfortunate occurrence.

Three Good Ones.

Hon. Asa S. Bushnell, governor of Ohio, has set apart Friday, April 24, as Arbor day, and on that day the Republican citizens of Ohio are requested and solemnly expected to plant a McKinley boom tree wherever, if anywhere, in Ohio that hardy shrub is not found.—New York Sun.

McKinley seems to be the Sandoz of politics.—Auburn, (N. J.) Journal. The first eight days of April increased the treasury deficit by three and a half millions. No wonder the people all want McKinley and McKinleyism.—Canton Repository.

Want a Game.

Alex. Stevenson, manager of the Eclipse foot ball team, has received a letter from the manager of the Central college team of Kentucky, which states that they would like to play a game with the local club at Huntington, W. Va., in September. The services of a Pittsburg coacher has been secured, and he will arrive in this city in August.

A Successful Operation.

I. N. Crable, who is undergoing operation at the West Penn hospital for an affection of the side, sends word that he passed through the ordeal successfully at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

DEALING OUT JUSTICE

Mayor Gilbert Had His Hands Full.

A LARGE NUMBER OF OFFENDERS

Joseph Gillespie Came to Town and Raised Particular Cain—Paid for His Fun—The City Treasury Enriched by Several Dollars.

Yesterday afternoon Joseph Gillespie, a farmer who resides a few miles the other side of Fredricktown, drove into the city, and started out to sample the innumerable brands of whiskey that are dispensed of throughout the city. Along toward evening Joseph became pretty well "tanked" up, and feeling that he was equal to any task that his exuberant fancy might suggest, he started out with the avowed intention of wiping out of existence every saloon that came within his path.

He succeeded in having himself forcibly ejected from several barrooms, and at the last one he was in, he became so obnoxious that the patrol was rung up and he was hurried to the lockup. While being arrested the drunken man made such a vigorous resistance that Patrolman McMillan was compelled to throw him down and put the nippers on.

This morning Gillespie was arraigned by Mayor Gilbert and fined $7.75 for being drunk and disorderly. He said that he had no recollection of what he had done last night. He secured the price and was released. The mayor had a large batch of offenders to deal with last night, and the treasury of the city was materially swelled. For fast driving, Lyman Rinehart, Price Mountford and Lyle Ashbaugh each paid $6.00. Rinehart at first concluded to stand trial, but later reconsidered his intention and pleaded guilty.

A scathing rebuke was administered to those who were guilty of reckless driving, the mayor maintaining that the lives of pedestrians were placed in jeopardy by such a dangerous practice.

Jas. Swendwood, John Hughes and Frank Wingrove were also fined $6.00. They were charged with being disorderly at a club room dance a few evenings ago. They paid their fines and were released.

STILL COMING.

Many New Wheels Will be Rode Here This Season.

There will undoubtedly be many new makes of wheels rode in this city the coming season, as almost every day an agent appears at one or the other hotels with two or three new wheels and pretty near always secures an agent who is willing to handle the wheel. The streets are in a poor condition for riding and several new tires have been destroyed already this season by being cut with the glass that is thrown on the street by the people who "don't think." The street force are doing all they can to keep the streets clean, but it would require a force several times as large again as the present one to do this work successfully. Nearly every place where the pavements have been taken up to put in water pipes the streets are from one-half to an inch lower than the rest of the street. This is also decidedly unpleasant for a man who goes out to take a spin.

CONSTABLE BERTELE.

Tony Takes the Oath of Office This Morning.

Tony Bertele today took the oath of office, and is now bedecked with all the authority of constable. Advice received from the fire station say that the new officer is negotiating for the purchase of "Pick" McMillan's badge, as he thinks it will add to his dignified appearance. It is also said that he has a large mace in course of construction, which will assume the proportions of the average base ball bat, as nothing could be found in the city of sufficient size to suit the fastidious taste of the new constable. No doubt Tony will be a terror to all wrongdoers, and he is patiently awaiting the issue of his first warrant.

Will Probably Die.

William Cowans, the genial sheriff of Brooke county, W. Va., is lying very ill at his home in Bethany, from Bright's disease. "Billy," as he is better known, will be remembered by all the base ball boys of this city, as he was always on hand at Wellsburg to take them to Bethany in backs. He has many friends here who will be pained to hear of his illness.

THE G. A. R. BEANBAKE

It Was a Success From Start to Finish.

COMMANDER TOWNSEND'S TALK

Was Intensely Interesting—The Rink Was the Scene of Many Gratifying Features, and All Present Enjoyed Themselves. The Anniversary of Lee's Surrender.

The beanbake given by the Grand Army, Sons of Veterans and Womens Relief Corps, in the rink last night was well attended and enjoyed by all. He touched on the awful carnage of the different wars, the bravery and patriotism displayed by those who loved freedom and deplored monarchy, and cited innumerable anecdotes of the different battles, touching on the gallant fight of the Patriots at Bunker Hill, and gave intensely interesting phases of the late war. He finished his address by a talk to the Womens Relief corps, commenting on the noble work in which they were engaged, amid great applause. So wrapped up was he in his subject that he forgot the fleeting hours, and utilized far more time than was his intention.

Colonel Hill was then called upon, and in a few words presented Commander Townsend with a handsome cake from the Womens' Relief Corps, adorned with the emblems of the Grand Army. The recipient responded in a witty manner, saying that the good women were far more sweet than the cake.

The audience then made for the tables and were served by the ladies. The beanbake was a success from start to finish, and no one went away disappointed. The celebration was given in commemoration of Lee's surrender at Appomattox court house.

A HIGH TARIFF

Is Necessary if American Manufactures Expect to Live.

A glassworker has the following to say in regard to the low tariff which will eventually wreck our American industries: "What is to become of our manufacturing industries if we continue as we are going I cannot tell. It seems as though the bottom was knocked out of all profits in the glass manufacture in order to meet the low price of imported ware. It now looks as though the American mechanics will be compelled hereafter to work for about the same wages as they do in Europe. The way that the government is running in debt, it will soon be as long as our war debt was, and the loss to our industries is enormous—all for what? To prove that free trade is a failure."

BILL FARMER AGAIN.

Bad Boys in the West End Irritated Him and He Was Angry.

Bill Farmer is being abused again. Yesterday afternoon a number of bad boys in the West End followed William and made life very miserable for him. Bill gave chase to his tormentors, but the youthful mischief-makers easily eluded the victim of their mischief, and tauntingly commenced to yell "Rambo potatoes," which Bill said was adding insult to injury.

Taken Ill.

Quinn Fowler, who is serving on the jury in Lisbon, was taken seriously ill this morning by an attack of heart trouble, and the sensational damage case which is attracting much attention at the county seat, was postponed until Mr. Fowler recovers. At last accounts he was getting along nicely under the care of a physician, and is expected to occupy his place in the jury box this afternoon.

MAY BE A GUSHER.

A Quality of Sand Struck That Indicates the Presence of Oil.

H. W. Allison, formerly a packer at the Dresden pottery, recently leased several acres of territory at Middle Run, across the river. Two months ago work was commenced, drilling for oil and the prospects are bright for a gusher. Mr. Allison was in the city yesterday, and stated that the well is now drilled to a depth of 800 feet, and a quantity of sand has been struck similar to that found in the Sistersville field. He secured the services of John Hailles, who is an expert in oil matters, to inspect the quality of the sand discovered. The gentleman pronounced it the same as that always found preceding the striking of oil, and Mr. Allison is elated as a result. Several accidents have tended to handicap the progress of the work, but a good strike is expected in sometime next week. This sand was discovered at a depth of 800 feet, while that of the Sistersville field is secured at a depth of 1,120 feet. A deep vein of glass rock was also encountered.

TEAM LINEUP.

The Nine That Will be Attired in Clown Costume.

The base ball club recently organized for the purpose of touring around the neighboring towns and giving burlesque exhibitions, in grotesque costumes, of the national game, at the last meeting adopted the name S. G. V. C. for their team. The various players were also assigned to their respective positions. The boys say that every effort will be put forth by them to win in their horsehide and willow contests.

John Graham has been selected as manager, and the lineup of the team is as follows: Catchers, Finch and Sheppard; pitchers, Tolbert and W. Carey; first base, J. Carey; second base, J. Kennedy; third base, T. Twaddle; short, A. Geisz; left, C. Fry; center, C. Dawson; right, R. E. Dorsey.

The team will be pleased to hear from any outside club for the arrangement of games.

DON'T READ THIS.

Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists. Make Your Marks.

The following communication, taken from the REVIEW of 1890, speaks of the then mayor, John W. Hall, and an admirer of Mr. Hall, a staunch and consistent member of the Democracy—the better class—requests the manager of the News Review to republish it:

"Those saloonists who counted upon the passive support or countenance of Mayor Hall, because he was of the Democratic faith, have lately been doomed to sad disappointment. In his honor's efforts to bring the law to bear upon this class, who cannot continue their business in strict compliance with the laws of the city and state with profit to those in the business, he is deserving of the support of every law-abiding and order-loving citizen."

WATER WORKS TRUSTEES.

Met Yesterday Afternoon and Reorganized.

The water works trustees met yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the secretary's office and finished up the business for the year. Mr. Kerr stepped down and out, and Mr. Shenkel took his seat. The new board then organized by electing the following officers: President, J. W. Harris; superintendent, Philip Morley; assistant superintendent, Edward Cox; secretary, J. N. Gipner. A few bills were passed upon and the board adjourned.

WITHOUT FOUNDATION

Was the Report in Wellsville That Bough Would Protest.

A report became current in Wellsville yesterday that C. F. Bough, the defeated Prohibition candidate for mayoralty honors in this city, would contest the recent municipal election on the ground of alleged existence of certain technicalities and illegal work said to have taken place at the polls. Mr. Bough was seen and stated that the impression sent out was an erroneous one, without any semblance of reliability.

Improving.

Mrs. Archie Searight, of East End, is able to sit up, after an illness of 11 weeks.

BEATEN AND ROBBED

Philip Bealer Is Relieved of Twenty-Eight Dollars.

TWO FOOTPADS DO THE DEED

Bealer Thinks He Knows Who His Assailants Were, and May Make Information. The Robbers Ran Up Cook Street, but Had Too Great a Lead to Pursue.

Last night about 10 o'clock the residents of Walnut and Cook streets were startled by cries of "Help! murder! police!" etc.

Philip Bealer, while on his way home, was encountered by two men at the corner of Cook and Walnut streets, and knocked down and robbed. His assailants stepped from a dark corner of the street, and in less time than it takes to note the occurrence, Philip was lying on the ground, having been struck with some blunt instrument, and had his pockets rifled of about $28. As soon as he recovered from his dazed condition he shouted for help, and a young man, who was strolling on the street with a lady friend, ran to his assistance. Bealer was covered with mud from head to foot and his pockets were turned inside out. Two men were noticed running up Cook street at a rapid gait, but were too far away to begin pursuit. Bealer thinks he knows who his assailants were, but refuses to divulge their names until he secures more evidence. About 75 cents and a door key were found where the robbery occurred, having been dropped by the robbers in their hurry, but that is all that remains of the unfortunate man's money. With the exception of a few hard bumps the man was uninjured. He says he will report the matter to the police, if he can get more positive proof of the guilt of the two suspects.

A. D. Eldner, a cobbler on Cook street, was attracted by the cries, and rushed to the rescue, but was in turn put to flight by the robbers, who chased him into his shop. Nothing undaunted, the footpads entered the room and Eldner ran out the back door and proceeded to police headquarters. Two officers hurried to the scene, but a diligent search revealed no trace of the burglars.

GONE TO THE WALL.

A Large Pottery and Sewer Pipe Works Suspend.

The big South Francisco pottery and sewer pipe works of Steiger Bros. in California has gone to the wall, and the many creditors are wondering where the coin to satisfy their claim is coming from.

Over $100,000 was invested in the works and it was considered the best of its kind in the state, but their product was not considered first class, and an enormous consignment of sewer pipe was returned to the manufacturers, which, in connection with the demands of the employees for their pay, which had been deferred from week to week, drove the company to the wall.

The management think they will soon have sufficient capital to again resume operations, and to carry out large contracts, which amount to nearly $400,000.

SHOULD HAVE A 'PHONE.

Many Cases are Not Reported Within the Specified Time.

The doctors of the city think the telephone should be kept in the office of the health officer. The board of health laws require that all doctors must report any and all cases within twenty-four hours after their services are required. In many instances this would be impossible, as they would have to resort to the mails and the letter might not be received within the allotted time. Dr. Probst says that a contagious disease is like a fire, and if not given prompt attention is likely to spread. The doctors think the board of health should keep the telephone in the health officer's residence and thus avoid the spreading of contagious diseases.

AN ENTERTAINMENT.

A Pleading Program Carried Out at St. Aloysius.

The entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid and Literary Society of St. Aloysius church in Bradshaw's hall, was well attended and a pleasing program carried out. A neat sum was realized from the entertainment, and the ladies are pleased with their success. Miss Geon rendered a recitation in a manner that showed excellent elocutionary talent, and Miss Stack sang two solos which were heartily applauded. A recitation by Miss Bessie Ashbaugh came in for a share of applause, and on encore, favored the audience with a second selection. All the other numbers were well given and appreciated.

THE MCKINLEY CLUB.

Met Last Night and Transacted Considerable Business.

The McKinley club had a good turnout at their meeting last night. A motion was made and carried that the club be incorporated under the laws of the state, and individual members will not be responsible for any debts that may be incurred by the club. The secretary was instructed to at once secure the necessary incorporation papers.

The committee in charge of the St. Louis trip reported encouraging progress. Fifteen berths were taken by Salem parties who are desirous of joining the boys. The committee ask that those who have signified their intention of making the trip will at once secure their berths before it is too late. The number of excursionists has been limited to 175, but arrangements can be made for a larger number if necessary.

It is the intention to increase the membership to 500 if possible, and an earnest invitation is extended to the young voters of the city, and neighboring cities, to add their names to the list. The club is in a flourishing condition and a number of new names are being added at each meeting. The enjoyment furnished at the rooms, and a thorough knowledge of the rise and progress of Republicanism, is in itself sufficient remuneration for the small dues charged. Come into the ranks.

ALMOST A FIGHT.

A Porter and a Traveling Man Have a Difference.

At the Cleveland and Pittsburg passenger depot today those who were waiting on the noon train were treated to a little diversion from the ordinary routine state of quietness that usually prevails around that place. A colored porter of a local hostelry and a commercial traveler differed upon some point of a transaction that had taken place between them.

The porter felt that he had been imposed upon, and he declared himself in no uncertain terms. To these mild and meek overtures, the traveling man responded in a manner that excited the ire of the porter, and he then made a strenuous effort to get at the traveling man and wipe the ground up with him, which, in all probability, he would have done but for the timely intervention of an attaché of the depot.

FIGHT IN AN OFFICE.

Two Young Men Exchange Many Ineffective Blows.

The hall way of an uptown business office was the scene of a terrific battle at an early hour this afternoon and many blows were exchanged, but fortunately little blood was spilled. The altercation started over an insinuation that one of the men claimed was directed at him, and hot words ensued, which resulted in a pitched battle. Other employees rushed to the scene and succeeded in parting the two, receiving innumerable scratches in their efforts to quell the disturbance. After consideration, apologies were exchanged, and the men shook hands, deploring the unfortunate occurrence.

Three Good Ones.

Hon. Asa S. Bushnell, governor of Ohio, has set apart Friday, April 24, as Arbor day, and on that day the Republican citizens of Ohio are requested and solemnly expected to plant a McKinley boom tree wherever, if anywhere, in Ohio that hardy shrub is not found.—New York Sun.

McKinley seems to be the Sandow of politics.—Auburn, (N. J.) Journal. The first eight days of April increased the treasury deficit by three and a half millions. No wonder the people all want McKinley and McKinleyism.—Canton Repository.

Want a Game.

Alex. Stevenson, manager of the Eclipse foot ball team, has received a letter from the manager of the Central college team of Kentucky, which states that they would like to play a game with the local club at Huntingdon, W. Va., in September. The services of a Pittsburg coacher has been secured, and he will arrive in this city in August.

A Successful Operation.

I. N. Crable, who is undergoing operation at the West Penn hospital for an affection of the side, sends word that he passed through the ordeal successfully at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

DEALING OUT JUSTICE

Mayor Gilbert Had His Hands Full.

A LARGE NUMBER OF OFFENDERS

Joseph Gillespie Came to Town and Raised Particular Cain—Paid for His Fun—The City Treasury Enriched by Several Dollars.

Yesterday afternoon Joseph Gillespie, a farmer who resides a few miles the other side of Fredricktown, drove into the city, and started out to sample the innumerable brands of whiskey that are dispensed of throughout the city. Along toward evening Joseph became pretty well "tanked" up, and feeling that he was equal to any task that his exuberant fancy might suggest, he started out with the avowed intention of wiping out of existence every saloon that came within his path.

He succeeded in having himself forcibly ejected from several barrooms, and at the last one he was in, he became so obnoxious that the patrol was rung up and he was hurried to the lockup. While being arrested the drunken man made such a vigorous resistance that Patrolman McMillan was compelled to throw him down and put the nippers on.

This morning Gillespie was arraigned by Mayor Gilbert and fined $7.75 for being drunk and disorderly. He said that he had no recollection of what he had done last night. He secured the price and was released. The mayor had a large batch of offenders to deal with last night, and the treasury of the city was materially swelled. For fast driving, Lyman Rinehart, Price Mountford and Lyle Ashbaugh each paid $6.00. Rinehart at first concluded to stand trial, but later reconsidered his intention and plead guilty.

A scathing rebuke was administered to those who were guilty of reckless driving, the mayor maintaining that the lives of pedestrians were placed in jeopardy by such a dangerous practice.

Jas. Swendwood, John Hughes and Frank Wingrove were also fined $6.00. They were charged with being disorderly at a club room dance a few evenings ago. They paid their fines and were released.

STILL COMING.

Many New Wheels Will be Rode Here This Season.

There will undoubtedly be many new makes of wheels rode in this city the coming season, as almost every day an agent appears at one or the other hotels with two or three new wheels and pretty near always secures an agent who is willing to handle the wheel. The streets are in a poor condition for riding and several new tires have been destroyed already this season by being cut with the glass that is thrown on the street by the people who "don't think." The street force are doing all they can to keep the streets clean, but it would require a force several times as large again as the present one to do this work successfully. Nearly every place where the pavements have been taken up to put in water pipes the streets are from one-half to an inch lower than the rest of the street. This is also decidedly unpleasant for a man who goes out to take a spin.

CONSTABLE BERTELE.

Tony Takes the Oath of Office This Morning.

Tony Bertele today took the oath of office, and is now bedecked with all the authority of constable. Advice received from the fire station say that the new officer is negotiating for the purchase of "Pick" McMillan's badge, as he thinks it will add to his dignified appearance. It is also said that he has a large mace in course of construction, which will assume the proportions of the average base ball bat, as nothing could be found in the city of sufficient size to suit the fastidious taste of the new constable. No doubt Tony will be a terror to all wrongdoers, and he is patiently awaiting the issue of his first warrant.

Will Probably Die.

William Cowans, the genial sheriff of Brooke county, W. Va., is lying very ill at his home in Bethany, from Bright's disease. "Billy," as he is better known, will be remembered by all the base ball boys of this city, as he was always on hand at Wellburg to take them to Bethany in hacks. He has many friends here who will be pained to hear of his illness.

CHESTNUT PULLERS.

There are chestnut pullers and chestnut pullers; but, of all contemptible chestnut pullers on this fair earth, the petty pot-house political chestnut puller is the most debased and despicable. You can find a few of him in every small city, town or village. He is the creature of that class of politicians who would rule or ruin their party, if the fate of that party rested with them. As a rule, the pot-house political chestnut puller is diametrically opposed to honest labor, and the only time he really labors is when he perspires freely in his attempt to convince honest and industrious mechanics and laborers, who earn their living by the sweat of their faces, that he is a "HONORABLE SON OF TOIL." As a rule, the pot house political chestnut puller depends upon the small sums occasionally doled out to him by his masters, and the free drinks he gets from those who employ his masters in the accomplishment of their designs in their out-reaching after money—money obtained from honest labor, as a rule, and for which no just equivalent is given. You can find the political pot house chestnut puller in all political sections—there is a few of him even in East Liverpool; everybody knows him, and everybody despises him, from the honest mechanic and laborer, down to the masters who employ him to carry out their petty, dishonest and scandalous schemes. Mark him and mar him. You know him.

REPUBLICANS.

This is written for the consideration of true Republicans, men who have been tested and tried in the hour of extremity, and who have stood the test; men who loved the Grand Old Party and the principles it enunciated at the time of its birth, and the grand principles which have since been placed on record in its archives. The Republican party was born in order that oppression might die. It was created in the hearts of loyal and true men, and made the power it has since become through the gray matter contained in the heads of intellectual giants. The great leader was the immortal Lincoln, a man raised up by God for the hour of extremity of this great nation. Lincoln was a commoner—a man of the people. He hated slavery of any character, and was a firm believer in freedom of thought, speech and press in the hour of extremity. By and through this mighty man of God, backed by a liberty-loving people, the shackles were sundered which bound members of the human race in abject slavery in this land of the free, and by a stroke of his pen, a burning, scorching, blighting curse was removed from the fair escutcheon of this beloved land. Slavery, of any kind, is a curse and ought to be wiped out wherever it shows its nasty, vile, baneful head—even if that slavery, like the silent, gliding serpent, creeps into the fold of the Grand Old Party. Liberty of conscience, of speech, of press, are glorious privileges, won for us by the Republican party, and given to us as an absolute right, when we exercise those privileges in a right and lawful manner. No man or body of men dare use the Republican party, the party of grand and glorious principles, as a medium through which to vent petty and unmanly and malicious personal spite. The Republican party was created for and exists in the idea of the greater good to the greater mass. The News Review is a Republican paper, clean-cut and courageous, building on the solid rocks of Right and Truth, ever advocating the principles taught by Lincoln and kindred great statesmen and patriots, from the time of the sixties down to the present, with Wm. McKinley, soldier, statesman and Christian, as its standard-bearer, with the hope that he may be the coming nominee of the Grand Old Party for the presidency of these United States of America. Long live the Republican party, if she but prove worthy of the trust reposed in her, and, as in the days of the late unpleasantness with our Southern brethren, stand as the exponent of liberty and the absolute enemy of every form of tyranny and oppression.

HONEY AS A FOOD.

It Is Easy of Digestion—Beneficial In Some Cases of Disease.

Probably most people consider honey as the equal in value for food of any sweet sauce—no better, no worse. All should know that it possesses one great superiority—ease of digestion. The nectar of flowers is almost wholly cane sugar. The secretions added by the bees change this to grape sugar and so prepare it that it is almost ready for assimilation without any effort on the part of the stomach. In fact, Professor A. J. Cook once styled honey "digested nectar." It will be readily seen that honey is a very desirable food for those with weakened digestive powers. If a person is very tired, "too exhausted to eat," it is astonishing how a few tastes of honey will act almost like magic. Almost no effort is required to make it ready for assimilation. Persons suffering from some forms of kidney trouble will find that honey is a much more beneficial food for them than is cane sugar.

In eating comb honey many strive to eject every particle of wax, fearing that, as wax is indigestible, nightmare and other troublesome consequences will follow an indulgence in warm biscuit and honey. It is true that bread is more easily digested than warm biscuit, as the latter is inclined to "pack" in chewing, but it may surprise some to know that comb honey is really an aid to the digestion of hot bread or biscuit. The philosophy of the matter is that the flakes of wax prevent the "packing," while the honey readily dissolves out, leaving passages for the gastric juice to enter the mass of food. The flakes of wax are indigestible, that is true, but when warmed are perfectly smooth and soft and will not injure the most delicate membrane. In fact, they act as a gentle stimulant and are beneficial in some forms of alimentary difficulties. The unpleasant symptoms from which some suffer after eating honey may often be removed by drinking a little milk.—Albany Cultivator.

Appreciation.

An anecdote, illustrating the urbanity of Dr. Max Nordau's character, as well as his keen sense of humor, is told in connection with a story of I. Zangwill. Dr. Nordau had never met Zangwill, but was a great admirer of "The Children of the Ghetto" and its author's literary causeries. One day a friend, knowing this, came to him and said: "Mr. Zangwill has been writing about you in The Pall Mall." "Indeed," said Dr. Nordau, with an air of great interest. "He gives a perfect appreciation of you," the friend continued. "Do tell me what he said," said the author, relaxing into an attitude of pleasurable anticipation. "He says you're an idiot." The funny part of the story is that during a recent visit to England Dr. Nordau met Mr. Zangwill and told him the incident.

AMERICANS LEAVING MADRID.

An Outbreak Feared—Naval Fleet Ready to Move.

MADRID, April 10.—Affairs look so serious again that American tourists are hurrying away. The passage of the belligerency resolutions has caused excited talk. A guard is still maintained at the American legation, but it has not been increased. The feeling is prevalent that a crisis is near, and that trouble might break at any moment. The captain general of Ferris reports that the fleet which is being organized there is all ready to go to sea. They will forthwith be supplied with the necessary war material, and will probably start for the river Arosa on Friday week to go through a course of instructions until the government decides on their ultimate destination.

The archbishop of Madrid has sent a very patriotic letter to Senor Canovas, the prime minister, offering the support of the Catholic Workingmen's society. A rumor is gaining ground that Marshal Campos is to be sent back to Cuba, but no confirmation of the story can be obtained in official circles, and Marshal Campos declines to be interviewed on the subject.

THE JAPS MUST GO.

Korea, Backed by Russia, Determined to Get Rid of Them.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 10.—According to a telegram from Vladivostok to The Novoe Vremya, the latest news from Seoul says that the Koreans are determined to exterminate the Japanese, holding them responsible for the murder of the queen. Bands of men have been organized to threaten the Japanese factories. Japan has sent warships to Pusan and other points on the coast.

The Novosti says that Japan should by this time know Russia's feeling in regard to Korea—that while she does not wish to be there herself she will not permit any other power to predominate in the hermit kingdom. The king, says The Novosti, is perfectly fit to rule, and when restored to the throne the Russian troops will retire.

Meanwhile the military activity prevails in Japan. The army is being increased.

BRADLEY STILL FIGHTING.

Three Defeats In Kentucky Apparently Not Enough For Him.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 10.—W. McD. Shaw of Covington and C. N. Vandam of Williamstown have been elected delegates from the Sixth district to the St. Louis convention and instructed for McKinley.

A Frankfort special says: Governor Bradley's managers reiterate the statement that he is in the race to stay, notwithstanding his defeat in the district convention here and at Falmouth and at the primaries in Louisville.

Coal Operator Langdon Goes Free.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—Samuel P. Langdon, the wealthy coal operator of this city, who was held pending the investigation into the death of Annie J. McGrath, whose body was found on March 23, in a house in this city occupied by Langdon and the girl, has been released by the police authorities. Corner Ashbridge has abandoned the case against Langdon because of lack of evidence.

Lived on What They Took.

There is one thing which is not generally known to the public—that is, Mosby and his men never received one cent from the Confederate government.

Each man provided himself with his own uniform, horse and arms, and boarded himself. The United States government furnished us with captured horses, arms and ammunition, and the extra horses captured paid our board. So, instead of receiving pay from the Confederate government, we turned over to them horses, mules and arms. I will mention one incident to show what an honorable and conscientious man Colonel Mosby was. On the greenback raid, when we captured $168,000, before division was made of the money $30,000 was offered Colonel Mosby, which he declined to receive. Nor did he ever take anything for his own use that had been captured.—Thomas Moss in Washington Post.

A Wearisome Fellow.

"Major Bluffton does a great deal of talking about himself and his experiences. He is a very commonplace man." "Still, his stories have the merit of being true." "Yes. They are too true to be good."—Washington Star.

A RECIPROCITY BILL.

Ways and Means Sub-Committee Agrees on One.

LOWER DUTIES NOT PROVIDED FOR

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The sub-committee of the committee of the ways and means, which has been conducting an investigation into the results of the recent reciprocity policy of the government, has agreed to report to the full committee as a substitute for the large number of measures that have been proposed in congress during this session relating to reciprocity and retaliation, a bill offered by Mr. Hopkins in the house of representatives.

The bill comprises five sections, under the caption of "a bill to increase and equalize the trade of the United States with foreign nations by the negotiations of reciprocal commercial arrangements."

It differs materially from the old reciprocity provision of the McKinley act in that it does not offer lower rates than those now established to nations entering upon the agreements, but simply relieves them from the imposition of additional duties.

The first section says that for the purpose of equalizing the trade of the United States with foreign countries the president is authorized and directed, as soon as may be after the passage of the act, to enter into negotiations with several classes of countries with a view of the arrangement of commercial agreements in which reciprocal and equivalent concessions may be secured in favor of the products of the farms, forests, fisheries, mines and manufactures of the United States. These countries are those who export more to us than we send to them; those whose chief exports are admitted free of duty here; those whose exports are admitted into the United States at a lower average rate than they impose on our exports to them; those that impose higher duties on our products than they impose on those of a like character coming from other countries; and those that impose unjust, excessive and obstructive restrictions upon imports from the United States.

The second section of the bill gives any such arrangement that may be made by the president the force of law upon publication. The third section provides that if any country included in these five classes refuses to enter into a reciprocal arrangement proposed by the president, making such concessions as he shall deem equivalent, the president shall, by proclamation, announce the fact, and thereupon the highest rates of duty known in any of our tariff acts since Jan. 1, 1890, shall immediately apply to the imports from such country. The fourth section of the bill provides a means by which any country upon which the excessive duties lie may secure their remission by making concessions deemed sufficient by the president and entering into an agreement.

The last section provides that the act shall go into effect immediately upon its passage.

DENOUNCED THE A. P. A.

A Massachusetts Congressman's Speech. District of Columbia Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The District of Columbia appropriation bill, which was recommended early in March after a protracted fight against appropriations for private and sectarian charitable institutions, was brought into the house with the specific appropriations stricken out and containing in lieu thereof an appropriation of a lump sum for charities to be expended under the direction of the district commissioners, with the proviso that no part of the appropriation should go to institutions in ecclesiastical or sectarian control. It was passed by a vote of 134 to 21. The feature of the debate was a vigorous attack on the A. P. A. by Mr. Fitzgerald (Dem., Mass.). He said:

The animus of this organization is well known. Members of the house have been importuned, not in the interest of justice, of freedom, or of a broad spirit of liberty and Americanism to oppose this bill, but because it appropriated money for Catholic institutions. I stand upon this floor born and bred a Roman Catholic, and proud of it, and I deny the right of any secret, outboard organization to come before the legal representatives of the American people and by its dark, deep underhand methods seek to deprive me and the members of the religion which I profess of the honest rights and privileges and dues of American citizenship.

What apology is there for a Roman Catholic to live in this country? Is not necessary? Look at the deeds of bravery and heroism and statesmanship that have been performed by Roman Catholics. I challenge any member of the A. P. A. organization in this house or any member in sympathy with it to name any sphere in life or any public duty that has been badly filled or ill performed by members of the Roman Catholic church.

He then recounted the noteworthy achievements of Catholics in defense of their country.

THE TARIFF BILL ATTACKED.

Senator Mantle Urges Linking of Protection and Bimetallism.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—After being in retirement for some weeks the tariff-silver bill was brought forward in the senate as a part of a speech by Mr. Mantle (Mon.), one of the five Republican senators who voted against considering the tariff bill. Mr. Mantle defended the course of the silver Republican senators, declaring that the Dingley bill was not framed as a patriotic measure. He urged that unsectional protection should be linked with bimetallism. A sharp tariff colloquy followed between Senators Mills, Hoar, Hawley and Mitchell as the effect of the Wilson bill on wool.

Labor Leaders Want Investigation.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—James O'Connell of Chicago, grand master of the International Order of Machinists, and Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, have urged the committee on naval affairs to make an investigation of the treatment of machinists in navy yards, claiming discrimination against labor organizations.

NEW MENACE TO ENGLAND.

The Abyssinians and Dervishes Combining in the Sudan.

MASSOWAH, April 10.—There is food for abundant speculation and interest in a report received here that Emperor Menelik, Italy's late successful antagonist at Adowa, has sent a delegate to negotiate with the Dervishes. An alliance between the Abyssinians and the Dervishes would upset many calculations.

Menelik is a Christian, as are his subjects. In times past they have been at war with the Mohammedan Dervishes, to whom they are of the hated class of infidels and the hatred between them partook of all the bitterness of religious rancor and fanaticism. During the former occupation by the English of the Sudan, Menelik proved himself a valuable and reliable ally to the English.

On this account it has been believed that Menelik and the mahdi were not likely to enter into an alliance, although the Dervishes were expected to avail themselves of the reverse administered by the Abyssinians upon the Italians to advance against Kassala, as proved to be the case. But the political exigencies of the case have overcome Menelik's religious antipathies, if the report be true that he is negotiating with the Dervishes to make common cause with them. They have in common their antagonism to the Italians, and England has avowed the purpose of the Nile expedition to be to assist Italy against the reverse she has suffered at the hands of Menelik. The latter is quite as desirous of harassing the khedive of Egypt as he is the mahdi.

MANY CHINESE SOLDIERS KILLED.

A Bloody Massacre and Fearful Explosion Follows a Revolt.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 10.—The steamer Empress of Japan, which has just arrived from the Orient, brings news of a terrific explosion in which a large number of Chinese soldiers were killed by an explosion at Kiang Gin. The regiment revolted, and at a signal from their leader they seized the guns of the forts and proceeded to kill off all of the officers and a new regiment of soldiers recently arrived.

In the midst of the massacre a magazine exploded and all hands were blown to pieces. Two battalions must have been wiped out of existence, as not a soldier lived to tell if the magazine went off by accident or designedly. All within 100 yards of the magazine were killed by flying shells.

A REVENGEFUL TEXAS FATHER

Kills His Daughter, Shoots Her Lover and Blows Himself to Pieces.

BRENNHAM, Tex., April 10.—On the depot platform at Millican, a man named John Brooks killed his daughter, Mollie Brooks, and also shot her lover, A. C. Worrells, just as they were about to board the northbound passenger train for Bryan, where they were going to be married.

After the shooting Brooks went to the rock quarry near Millican and sat down on a box of dynamite, which he exploded, and blew himself to atoms. Nothing but his legs and feet were found.

Double Tragedy in the Street.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 10.—A double tragedy has been enacted on one of the principal thoroughfares here. With a razor Bud Owens, a negro, cut the throat of Cora Boston, a negro girl, 19 years of age, and when pursued by a crowd of people, who had witnessed the tragedy, cut his own throat with the same weapon.

Maryland Bankers Against Silver.

CRACKING BILLIARD BALLS.

Frankish Results of Blizzard Weather on the Ivory Globes.

Dudley Kavanagh, the champion of billiards in the days of the supremacy of the old four ball American game, talking the other night about the liability of ivory billiard balls to crack if not carefully protected from cold drafts, related this amusing incident:

"About 30 years ago, when I kept a billiard room in Fulton street, I got out a box of ivory one winter morning to do some practicing before my customers would arrive. I had been playing for about five minutes, when I undertook to make a sharp drive with the spot ball. I struck it fairly in the middle, the one going clean through the ball, knocking out what the experts call the 'heart' or center of the ball. It got chilled and had cracked all around the center. The ball was ruined for regular playing purposes, but I had heaps of fun with it afterward. I explained to certain of my customers, who were jovial sort of fellows, fond of a joke, that we could make a joker of the cracked ball.

"I found when I replaced the 'heart' that the ball had all the appearance of a sound one, and that the 'heart' would remain in place until the ball was struck sharply. These customers, who were aware of the secret, would come in occasionally with other friends and start a game. When the proper time came, the man who had been selected as the victim of the joke would be engaged in conversation with one of the players, while another would slyly remove one of the sound balls when the victim wasn't looking and replace it with the cracked ivory.

"It's your turn, George," one of the jokers would cry out, and then the victim played. Sometimes on the very first stroke the player would knock the loose 'heart' out of place, and pinion the ball on the tip of his cue. The shot generally astonished the spectators. Then they would roar with laughter and applaud with enthusiasm. The maker of the mysterious shot was always the most bewildered man in the establishment. He would examine the pinnoned ball closely and then scrutinize the dislodged 'heart.'

"Well, George," they told him laughingly, 'there isn't a professional alive who could beat that shot. It's the greatest on record.'

"It was many, many months before that cracked ball ceased to be a source of wonder and amusement to the downtown business men."

Since Dudley's days in Fulton street, the same accident has occasionally happened, and Sexton, Tim Flynn, George Slosson and Maurice Daly each have "heartless" billiard balls, which they keep as curiosities. Flynn's specimen had the "heart" knocked out of it in a game of 15 ball pool, where the player burst the pyramid in the effort to pocket three balls or more on the opening stroke.—New York Sun.

The Elder Mr. Rush's Great Day. He is an elderly gentleman of means.

He has a standing high in the church and has contributed to charities. In the business world he has secured an honored place for his firm.

Having resided in Chicago for so many years and having contributed generously, although modestly, to its up-building, it would seem that he should have a reputation. And he did have a reputation. The comparative few who knew him held him in great respect.

But he never really tasted the sweets of popularity until his son made a touchdown.

Never until his son became a public character, with his picture in all sorts of publications and the glory of his deeds put into display type, did the father know what it was to hear people whisper to one another: "Do you see that old gentleman? Well, he's Mr. Rush, father of the great half back."

Never before did he have people call him on the 'phone and say: "Congratulations, Mr. Rush. This has been a great day."

If he happens in at the athletic club, enthusiastic men, young and old, seize him by the hand and tell him how he ought to be envied, and want to know if he had anything up on the game.

Greatness has been thrust upon him. The name which lay hidden in the directory for years has suddenly become a household word.

All of a sudden the father finds himself blinking in a glare of reflected glory.

His son has made a touchdown. He doesn't know how or why the touchdown was made, and secretly he has no concern as to the condition of his son's game ankle, but he finds that whereas he was nobody he is now the father of a half back.—Chicago Record.

Insulted Over the Wire.

A telegraph operator on one of the morning papers recently told me a good story of how he got rid of a too frequent visitor, whose nightly calls during business hours had come to be a nuisance. The intruder was also an operator, but was temporarily out of a job. One evening he came in as usual and planted himself in a chair. Receiving no answers to his questions, he lapsed into silence and listened to the steady click of the instrument. Suddenly a look of disgust crossed his face. He arose, glared at the operator, who kept on writing, turned on his heel and walked out. This happened a week ago, and he has not called since. What was the cause of his sudden departure? That is easily answered. In response to a previous request, the operator at the other end of the line sent this message, "Is that idiot with you again tonight?"—Syracuse Post.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, APRIL 10.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
Of Ohio.

CHESTNUT PULLERS.

There are chestnut pullers and chestnut pullers; but, of all contemptible chestnut pullers on this fair earth, the petty pot-house political chestnut puller is the most debased and despicable. You can find a few of him in every small city, town or village. He is the creature of that class of politicians who would rule or ruin their party, if the fate of that party rested with them. As a rule, the pot-house political chestnut puller is diametrically opposed to honest labor, and the only time he really labors is when he perspires freely in his attempt to convince honest and industrious mechanics and laborers, who earn their living by the sweat of their faces, that he is a "HORNY HANDED SON OF TOL." As a rule, the pot-house political chestnut puller depends upon the small sums occasionally doled out to him by his masters, and the free drinks he gets from those who employ his masters in the accomplishment of their designs in their out-reaching after money—money obtained from honest labor, as a rule, and for which no just equivalent is given. You can find the political pot-house chestnut puller in all political sections—there is a few of him even in East Liverpool; everybody knows him, and everybody despises him, from the honest mechanic and laborer, down to the masters who employ him to carry out their petty, dishonest and scandalous schemes. Mark him and mar him. You know him.

REPUBLICANS.

This is written for the consideration of true Republicans, men who have been tested and tried in the hour of extremity, and who have stood the test; men who loved the Grand Old Party and the principles it enunciated at the time of its birth, and the grand principles which have since been placed on record in its archives. The Republican party was born in order that oppression might die. It was created in the hearts of loyal and true men, and made the power it has since become through the gray matter contained in the heads of intellectual giants. The great leader was the immortal Lincoln, a man raised up by God for the hour of extremity of this great nation. Lincoln was a commoner—a man of the people. He hated slavery of any character, and was a firm believer in freedom of thought, speech and press in the hour of extremity. By and through this mighty man of God, backed by a liberty-loving people, the shackles were sundered which bound members of the human race in abject slavery in this land of the free, and by a stroke of his pen, a burning, scorching, blighting curse was removed from the fair escutcheon of this beloved land. Slavery, of any kind, is a curse and ought to be wiped out wherever it shows its nasty, vile, baneful head—even if that slavery, like the silent, gliding serpent, creeps into the fold of the Grand Old Party. Liberty of conscience, of speech, of press, are glorious privileges, won for us by the Republican party, and given to us as an absolute right, when we exercise those privileges in a right and lawful manner. No man or body of men dare use the Republican party, the party of grand and glorious principles, as a medium through which to vent petty and unmanly and malicious personal spite. The Republican party was created for and exists in the idea of the greater good to the greater mass. The News Review is a Republican paper, clean-cut and courageous, building on the solid rocks of Right and Truth, ever advocating the principles taught by Lincoln and kindred great statesmen and patriots, from the time of the sixties down to the present, with Wm. McKinley, soldier, statesman and Christian, as its standard-bearer, with the hope that he may be the coming nominee of the Grand Old Party for the presidency of these United States of America. Long live the Republican party, if she but prove worthy of the trust reposed in her, and, as in the days of the late unpleasantness with our Southern brethren, stand as the exponent of liberty and the absolute enemy of every form of tyranny and oppression.

HONEY AS A FOOD.

It Is Easy of Digestion—Beneficial in Some Cases of Disease.

Probably most people consider honey as the equal in value for food of any sweet sauce—no better, no worse. All should know that it possesses one great superiority—ease of digestion. The nectar of flowers is almost wholly cane sugar. The secretions added by the bees change this to grape sugar and so prepare it that it is almost ready for assimilation without any effort on the part of the stomach. In fact, Professor A. J. Cook once styled honey "digested nectar." It will be readily seen that honey is a very desirable food for those with weakened digestive powers. If a person is very tired, "too exhausted to eat," it is astonishing how a few tastes of honey will act almost like magic. Almost no effort is required to make it ready for assimilation. Persons suffering from some forms of kidney trouble will find that honey is a much more beneficial food for them than is cane sugar.

In eating comb honey many strive to eject every particle of wax, fearing that, as wax is indigestible, nightmare and other troublesome consequences will follow an indulgence in warm biscuit and honey. It is true that bread is more easily digested than warm biscuit, as the latter is inclined to "pack" in chewing, but it may surprise some to know that comb honey is really an aid to the digestion of hot bread or biscuit. The philosophy of the matter is that the flakes of wax prevent the "packing," while the honey readily dissolves out, leaving passages for the gastric juice to enter the mass of food. The flakes of wax are indigestible, that is true, but when warmed are perfectly smooth and soft and will not injure the most delicate membrane. In fact, they act as a gentle stimulant and are beneficial in some forms of alimentary difficulties. The unpleasant symptoms from which some suffer after eating honey may often be removed by drinking a little milk.—Albany Cultivator.

Appreciation.

An anecdote, illustrating the urbanity of Dr. Max Nordau's character, as well as his keen sense of humor, is told in connection with a story of I. Zangwill. Dr. Nordau had never met Zangwill, but was a great admirer of "The Children of the Ghetto" and its author's literary causeries. One day a friend, knowing this, came to him and said: "Mr. Zangwill has been writing about you in The Pall Mall." "Indeed," said Dr. Nordau, with an air of great interest. "He gives a perfect appreciation of you," the friend continued. "Do tell me what he said," said the author, relaxing into an attitude of pleasurable anticipation. "He says you're an idiot." The funny part of the story is that during a recent visit to England Dr. Nordau met Mr. Zangwill and told him the incident.

AMERICANS LEAVING MADRID.

An Outbreak Feared—Naval Fleet Ready to Move.

MADRID, April 10.—Affairs look so serious again that American tourists are hurrying away. The passage of the belligerent resolutions has caused excited talk. A guard is still maintained at the American legation, but it has not been increased. The feeling is prevalent that a crisis is near, and that trouble might break out at any moment. The captain general of Ferris reports that the fleet which is being organized there is all ready to go to sea. They will forthwith be supplied with the necessary war material, and will probably start for the river Arsona on Friday week to go through a course of instructions until the government decides on their ultimate destination. The archbishop of Madrid has sent a very patriotic letter to Senor Canovas, the prime minister, offering the support of the Catholic Workingmen's society. A rumor is gaining ground that Marshal Campos is to be sent back to Cuba, but no confirmation of the story can be obtained in official circles, and Marshal Campos declines to be interviewed on the subject.

THE JAPS MUST GO.

Korea, Backed by Russia, Determined to Get Rid of Them.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 10.—According to a telegram from Vladivostok to The Novoe Vremya, the last news from Seoul says that the Koreans are determined to exterminate the Japanese, holding them responsible for the murder of the queen. Bands of men have been organized to threaten the Japanese factories. Japan has sent warships to Pusan and other points on the coast. The Novosti says that Japan should by this time know Russia's feeling in regard to Korea—that while she does not wish to be there herself she will not permit any other power to predominate in the hermit kingdom. The king, says The Novosti, is perfectly fit to rule, and when restored to the throne the Russian troops will retire. Meanwhile the military activity prevails in Japan. The army is being increased.

Coal Operator Langdon Goes Free.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—Samuel P. Langdon, the wealthy coal operator of this city, who was held pending the investigation into the death of Annie J. McGrath, whose body was found on March 23, in a house in this city occupied by Langdon and the girl, has been released by the police authorities. Corner Ashbridge has abandoned the case against Langdon because of lack of evidence.

Lived on What They Took.

There is one thing which is not generally known to the public—that is, Mosby and his men never received one cent from the Confederate government. Each man provided himself with his own uniform, horse and arms, and boarded himself. The United States government furnished us with captured horses, arms and ammunition, and the extra horses captured paid our board. So, instead of receiving pay from the Confederate government, we turned over to them horses, mules and arms. I will mention one incident to show what an honorable and conscientious man Colonel Mosby was. On the greenback raid, when we captured $108,000, before division was made of the money $30,000 was offered Colonel Mosby, which he declined to receive. Nor did he ever take anything for his own use that had been captured.—Thomas Moss in Washington Post.

A RECIPROCITY BILL.

Ways and Means Sub-Committee Agrees on One.

LOWER DUTIES NOT PROVIDED FOR

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The sub-committee of the committee of the ways and means, which has been conducting an investigation into the results of the recent reciprocity policy of the government, has agreed to report to the full committee as a substitute for the large number of measures that have been proposed in congress during this session relating to reciprocity and retaliation, a bill offered by Mr. Hopkins in the house of representatives.

The bill comprises five sections, under the caption of "a bill to increase and equalize the trade of the United States with foreign nations by the negotiations of reciprocal commercial arrangements."

It differs materially from the old reciprocity provision of the McKinley act in that it does not offer lower rates than those now established to nations entering upon the agreements, but simply relieves them from the imposition of additional duties.

The first section says that for the purpose of equalizing the trade of the United States with foreign countries the president is authorized and directed, as soon as may be after the passage of the act, to enter into negotiations with several classes of countries with a view of the arrangement of commercial agreements in which reciprocal and equivalent concessions may be secured in favor of the products of the farms, forests, fisheries, mines and manufactures of the United States. These countries are those who export more to us than we send to them; those whose chief exports are admitted free of duty here; those whose exports are admitted into the United States at a lower average rate than they impose on our exports to them; those that impose higher duties on our products than they impose on those of a like character coming from other countries; and those that impose unjust, excessive and obstructive restrictions upon imports from the United States.

The second section of the bill gives any such arrangement that may be made by the president the force of law upon publication. The third section provides that if any country included in these five classes refuses to enter into a reciprocal arrangement proposed by the president, making such concessions as he shall deem equivalent, the president shall, by proclamation, announce the fact, and thereupon the highest rates of duty known in any of our tariff acts since Jan. 1, 1890, shall immediately apply to the imports from such country. The fourth section of the bill provides a means by which any country upon which the excessive duties lie may secure their remission by making concessions deemed sufficient by the president and entering into an agreement.

The last section provides that the act shall go into effect immediately upon its passage.

DENOUNCED THE A. P. A.

A Massachusetts Congressman's Speech, District of Columbia Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The District of Columbia appropriation bill, which was recommitted early in March after a protracted fight against appropriations for private and sectarian charitable institutions, was brought into the house with the specific appropriations stricken out and containing in lieu thereof an appropriation of a lump sum for charities to be expended under the direction of the district commissioners, with the proviso that no part of the appropriation should go to institutions in ecclesiastical or sectarian control. It was passed by a vote of 194 to 21. The feature of the debate was a vigorous attack on the A. P. A. by Mr. Fitzgerald (Dem., Mass.). He said:

The animus of this organization is well known. Members of the house have been importuned, not in the interest of justice, of freedom, or of a broad spirit of liberty and Americanism to oppose this bill, but because it appropriated money for Catholic institutions. I stand upon this floor born and bred a Roman Catholic, and proud of it, and I deny the right of any secret, oath-bound organization to come before the legal representatives of the American people and by its dark and deep underhand methods seek to deprive me and the members of the religion which I profess of the honest rights and privileges and dues of American citizenship.

What apology is there for a Roman Catholic to live in this country? Is one necessary? Look at the deeds of bravery and heroism and statesmanship that have been performed by Roman Catholics. I challenge any member of the A. P. A. organization in this house or any member in sympathy with it to name any sphere in life or any public duty that has been badly filled or ill performed by members of the Roman Catholic church.

THE TARIFF BILL ATTACKED.

Senator Mantle Urges Linking of Protection and Bimetallism.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—After being in retirement for some weeks the tariff-bill was brought forward in the senate as a text for a speech by Mr. Mantle (Mon.), one of the five Republican senators who voted against considering the tariff bill. Mr. Mantle defended the course of the silver Republican senators, declaring that the Dingley bill was not framed as a patriotic measure. He urged that unsectional protection should be linked with bimetallism. A sharp tariff colloquy followed between Senators Mills, Hoar, Hawley and Mitchell as the effect of the Wilson bill on wool.

Labor Leaders Want Investigation.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—James O'Connell of Chicago, grand master of the International Order of Machinists, and Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, have urged the committee on naval affairs to make an investigation of the treatment of machinists in navy yards, claiming discrimination against labor organizations.

NEW MENACE TO ENGLAND.

The Abyssinians and Dervishes Combining in the Sudan.

MASSOWAH, April 10.—There is food for abundant speculation and interest in a report received here that Emperor Menelik, Italy's late successful antagonist at Adowa, has sent a delegate to negotiate with the Dervishes. An alliance between the Abyssinians and the Dervishes would upset many calculations.

Menelik is a Christian, as are his subjects. In times past they have been at war with the Mohammedan Dervishes, to whom they are of the hated class of infidels and the hatred between them partook of all the bitterness of religious rancor and fanaticism. During the former occupation by the English of the Sudan, Menelik proved himself a valuable and reliable ally to the English.

On this account it has been believed that Menelik and the mahdi were not likely to enter into an alliance, although the Dervishes were expected to avail themselves of the reverse administered by the Abyssinians upon the Italians to advance against Kassala, as proved to be the case. But the political exigencies of the case have overcome Menelik's religious antipathies, if the report be true that he is negotiating with the Dervishes to make common cause with them. They have in common their antagonism to the Italians, and England has avowed the purpose of the Nile expedition to be to assist Italy against the reverse she has suffered at the hands of Menelik. The latter is quite as desirous of harassing the khedive of Egypt as he is the mahdi.

MANY CHINESE SOLDIERS KILLED.

A Bloody Massacre and Fearful Explosion Follows a Revolt.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 10.—The steamer Empress of Japan, which has just arrived from the Orient, brings news of a terrific explosion in which a large number of Chinese soldiers were killed by an explosion at Kiang Gin. The regiments revolted, and at a signal from their leader they seized the guns of the forts and proceeded to kill off all of the officers and a new regiment of soldiers recently arrived.

In the midst of the massacre a magazine exploded and all hands were blown to pieces. Two battalions must have been wiped out of existence, as not a soldier lived to tell if the magazine went off by accident or designedly. All within 100 yards of the magazine were killed by flying shells.

After the shooting Brooks went to the rock quarry near Millican and sat down on a box of dynamite, which he exploded, and blew himself to atoms. Nothing but his legs and feet were found.

CRACKING BILLIARD BALLS.

Frankish Results of Blizzard Weather on the Ivory Globes.

Dudley Kavanaugh, the champion of billiards in the days of the supremacy of the old four ball American game, talking the other night about the liability of ivory billiard balls to crack if not carefully protected from cold drafts, related this amusing incident:

"About 30 years ago, when I kept a billiard room in Fulton street, I got out a box of ivories one winter morning to do some practicing before my customers would arrive. I had been looking for about five minutes, when I undertook to make a sharp drive with the spot ball. I struck it fairly in the middle, the cue going clean through the ball, knocking out what the experts call the 'heart' or center of the ball. It got chilled and had cracked all around the center. The ball was ruined for regular playing purposes, but I had heaps of fun with it afterward. I explained to certain of my customers, who were jovial sort of fellows, fond of a joke, that we could make a joker of the cracked ball.

"I found when I replaced the 'heart' that the ball had all the appearance of a sound one, and that the 'heart' would remain in place until the ball was struck sharply. These customers, who were aware of the secret, would come in occasionally with other friends and start a game. When the proper time came, the man who had been selected as the victim of the joke would be engaged in conversation with one of the players, while another would slyly remove one of the sound balls when the victim wasn't looking and replace it with the cracked ivory.

"It's your turn, George," one of the jokers would cry out, and then the victim played. Sometimes on the very first stroke the player would knock the loose 'heart' out of place, and pinion the ball on the tip of his cue. The shot generally astonished the spectators. Then they would roar with laughter and applaud with enthusiasm. The maker of the mysterious shot was always the most bewildered man in the establishment. He would examine the pinnioned ball closely and then scrutinize the dislodged 'heart.'

"Well, George," they told him laughingly, "there isn't a professional alive who could beat that shot. It's the greatest on record."

"It was many, many months before that cracked ball ceased to be a source of wonder and amusement to the downtown business men."

Since Dudley's days in Fulton street, the same accident has occasionally happened, and Sexton, Tim Flynn, George Slosson and Maurice Daly each have "heartless" billiard balls, which they keep as curiosities. Flynn's specimen had the "heart" knocked out of it in a game of 15 ball pool, where the player burst the pyramid in the effort to pocket three balls or more on the opening stroke.—New York Sun.

The Elder Mr. Rush's Great Day. He is an elderly gentleman of means.

He has a standing high in the church and has contributed to charities. In the business world he has secured an honored place for his firm.

Having resided in Chicago for so many years and having contributed generously, although modestly, to its upbuilding, it would seem that he should have a reputation. And he did have a reputation. The comparative few who knew him held him in great respect.

But he never really tasted the sweets of popularity until his son made a touchdown.

Never until his son became a public character, with his picture in all sorts of publications and the glory of his deeds put into display type, did the father know what it was to hear people whispering to one another: "Do you see that old gentleman? Well, he's Mr. Rush, father of the great half back."

TURKEY BACKS DOWN.

Decides Not to Expel the Missionaries.

AWAITS ORDERS FROM RUSSIA.

If That Country Says Go Ahead, the Decision Will Be Rescinded—Will Then Defy the United States and England. The Knapp Case.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 10.—The steps taken in behalf of the missionaries in Asia Minor have had a beneficial effect. The Turkish government, replying to the renewed representations on the subject made by the British ambassador, Sir Philip Currie, and the United States, Mr. John W. Riddle, assured the diplomats that the missionaries in Asia Minor would not be molested "so long as they conform with the laws of the country." But this assurance does not carry with it the weight which it would in coming from any other government, it is claimed, as there is no question but that the Turkish officials have been trying to prove that the missionaries are not "conforming with the laws of the country," and it was on this ground that the sultan prepared and probably signed the irade providing for their expulsion from the Turkish dominions.

But the publicity given to the matter in the press dispatches have certainly caused a hesitation at the palace, and it is now thought likely that the irade will be withheld at least until Russia has been further consulted on the subject. If Russia says that the missionaries are not to be expelled, the irade will not be made public. On the other hand, if Russia thinks herself strong enough to proceed with the work of Russianizing Asiatic Turkey the irade may soon see the light of day.

FAIR TREATMENT FOR KNAPP.

Turkey Will Place Him in United States Minister Terrell's Hands.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—It can be stated on authority that there is no reason for apprehension that Missionary Knapp will not meet with fair treatment, and eventually be permitted to return to his post at Bitlis after he has undergone the form of clearing himself from the charges that have been lodged against him of conspiracy against the government. Early in the course of the Armenian troubles Mr. Terrell, our minister to Turkey, was instructed by the state department to see to it that any American citizen, native or naturalized, who was arrested by the Turkish government be surrendered to the United States minister for trial. Our government, against the opposition of the porte in taking this step, held that under the treaty of 1830 it had the right to exercise extra territorial jurisdiction in Turkey where American citizens are concerned.

So, when Mr. Knapp was about to be arrested by the local Turkish authorities at Bitlis and notified Mr. Terrell, the latter promptly addressed himself to the porte, and after much difficulty secured the remission of the trial of the missionary to himself.

Knapp is being brought to the coast as the result of an agreement between the Turkish government and Mr. Terrell, the minister, has secured what might be regarded as valuable concessions from the authorities in having the trial of the missionary taken out of the hands of the Turkish authorities and left to his own court, and in order to stand trial the accused must make his appearance before the American authorities at Constantinople.

HOHENLOHE'S VISIT TO PARIS.

French Again Hope For Aid From Germany Against England.

BERLIN, April 10.—The North German Gazette says that the imperial chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, accompanied by his wife, has been in Paris for several days incognito and that they will go to Vienna.

The acquiescent attitude assumed by Germany toward the Nile expedition manifested by her consent as one of the guaranteeing powers to the use of the Egyptian debt surplus for defraying its cost, was a profound disappointment to France. Germany's openly expressed antipathy to Great Britain and her bitter resentment of British aggression upon the Transvaal as well as a desire manifested in several instances by the German government for more cordial relations with Russia had led France to count upon German opposition to the British project for occupying the upper Nile basin.

These hopes are appreciably revived by the publication of the news of Prince Hohenlohe's visit and 100 stories are afloat that the chancellor comes on a political mission instead of on private business and that he has had conferences with members of the French government regarding the attitude of France toward the Egyptian question with relation immediately to the Nile expedition and ultimately to the desire of France for the British evacuation of Egypt.

TWENTY-SEVEN MEN KILLED.

The Registration Riots In St. Landry Parish, La., Continue.

LAFAYETTE, La., April 10.—Information received here from St. Landry parish says that Dr. F. G. Martin, in command of some 500 men at Mallet, has been shot and wounded. No particulars can be obtained as to who shot Colonel Martin or the nature of his wounds.

Dr. G. A. Martin, a resident of Lafayette and brother of Colonel Martin, was much concerned on receipt of the information and endeavored to ascertain definite news by telephone from his brother at Mallet, but could get no reply, except that the colonel was not at home. Further information is that two white men and 25 negroes have been killed in the affray. While the above is based entirely on reports, circumstances give probability as to its truth.

Grave Error In Raines Law.

NEW YORK, April 10.—A grave error in the new Raines excise law has been discovered, which calls for supplementary legislation if the intent of the act is to be carried out. To Be Voted Upon at the Next Fall Election—Bill Passed the Senate to Protect State Employees and Officials From Political Assessments.

COLUMBUS, April 10.—The state of Ohio on and after July 1 will inflict capital punishment by electricity, the bill having passed finally in the legislature.

The bill passed finally that at the next fall election the people are to vote upon the question of having a constitutional convention.

Bills were passed in the senate as follows:

Requiring the deputy warden of the Ohio penitentiary to give a $10,000 bond and the clerk $5,000.

To raise the salary of the judge of the supreme court from $4,000 to $5,000.

Providing for the appointment of an additional deputy inspector of work-shops and factories for the inspection of gunpowder factories and all places where explosives are manufactured.

These bills passed in the house:

DEVIL TOLD HIM TO DO IT.

A Written Confession by Smith of the Stone Murder.

AKRON, O., April 10.—In the presence of Detective Doran, Dacelle and Stenographer Miller, Romulus Cottle, alias John Smith, the ex-herd man of the Stone family, has made a written confession of the crime for which he is held. He is still calm and perfectly self-possessed. He told the story of the brutal affray without flinching and said he did not care for the consequences of his act. The only excuse he would offer for the perpetration of the crime was "the devil told me to do it."

A morbid crowd has besieged the jail where the murderer is confined. The feeling against Smith at Tallmadge is high, and trouble from that source is feared.

Anson B. Strong, who has been in jail on suspicion of being implicated in the crime, has been released. He says in his confession that he committed the murders out of pure love of the girl; that he intended to murder the rest of the family, and when the trouble had all blown over he would quietly marry the girl and all would be lovely.

He did the killing with a baseball bat. He forced a door and first went to the room of Mr. and Mrs. Stone, killing them both while asleep. Then he went to Ira Stillson's room, knocked him unconscious and took his knife, with which he mutilated the bodies of Stone and his wife.

Making his way to the room of Emma Stone, he found her out of bed and pacing the floor, but with one blow of his murderous weapon struck her unconscious to the floor. Hattie ran from her room to the rescue of her sister, having heard her fall, and he turned and struck her one blow on the head. She was not unconscious, and she escaped and ran for help to the house of a neighbor.

After beating the door off the room occupied by Hattie and Flora, and finding the latter had escaped, he spared Flora on account of his "love for her," and fled, stopping at a creek on his way home to wash his hands and ball bat clear of blood of his victims. The bat, mask and Stillson's knife have been found just where Cottle had concealed them.

MINERS' ACHIEVEMENTS.

President Ratchford Recounts Some of the Good Accomplished.

COLUMBUS, April 10.—At the meeting of the United Mine Workers of Ohio held here President Ratchford said: "The year, with its low wages, dull trade, disappointments and reverses has proven to be the most critical and trying in our existence as an organized body. The achievements, however, of the state and national organizations have been beneficial. The truckstore has been divorced from the mine. Cash payment is warranted in Ohio. The differential between Ohio and Pittsburgh has been increased. Local strikes have been less numerous. Four hundred men are out at Salineville and 250 at Palmyria, who demand removal of the 1½ inch screen."

He urged the convention to aid in the work of securing the proposed eight-hour work day in all lines of trade.

Prominent Men Arrested.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., April 10.—Lake Usher, president of the national bank, L. A. Duke, proprietor of the Frontier House, and Henry Legacy, all of Potsdam, N. Y., have been arrested here under indictments found at the March term of the United States court for conspiracy to violate the alien labor law.

The Young Men's Christian Association baseball club failed to meet last night. A good attendance of the members of the club was present, but as all the officers were absent, there was nothing to do but adjourn and set another time for meeting. An attempt will be made to hold a meeting at the rooms on Saturday evening.

The water works trustees, at their meeting yesterday afternoon, passed a motion introduced by Christian Metch, to lay aside at the end of the year 1896, and succeeding years, five per cent of the remaining receipts to establish a sinking fund. They think this a good move, and if anything remains at the end of the year, they hope to accumulate a large fund.

The baseball talk that has been floating around the city for several weeks has come to the ears of the campground Tombstones, and they want it distinctly understood, although they have not as yet organized for the season, that when the proper time comes they will meet any and all comers on their home grounds. This club has been one of the strongest aggregations in this section of the state for three seasons past, and promises to keep up their past reputation the coming year.

The March of the Bicycle.

The bicycle has come, and, although the predominance of the horse in sport is not destroyed, it is no longer undisputed. Not like that other, that with such sulphurous manifestations tumbled the knight from his steed, this modern machine, in quiet and orderly manner as becomes the present, is tumbling his modern counterpart from hunter and from hack. Gradually it has been growing in favor, and now it is bearing all before it. There is no dignity too great to be borne by the nimble wheel, and coquetry has been sacrificed for its sake. Every one rides, and it is singular that the most bigoted horseman often falls the most abject victim and is found practicing upon the smoothly running innovation—sometimes, it is true, on the sly. A writer says in speaking of the "retreat" of the power holding classes: "The effect produced on certain individuals is such that, instead of siding with the class to which by tradition and individual interest they undoubtedly belong, they take their place in the ranks of the opponents."—Scribner's.

AN ILL-TREATED WIFE

Wants Alimony From a Very
Cruel Husband.

MARRIED BUT A FEW MONTHS

And During That Time the Life of the
Plaintiff Has Been One of Misery—A
Big Damage Case Settled—An Assignment.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, April 10.—Mrs. Hettie B. Armstrong, who resides near Signal, demonstrated in the court this morning that married life, to her at least, was not what it is cracked out to be, and brought suit for alimony against Frank E. Armstrong, whom she married less than five months ago. By the petition, it is learned that the couple were wedded on the 14th of last November, and that on Monday, without any apparent cause, the defendant deserted his wife and has since refused to live with her. During the few months of their married life the plaintiff was subjected to much abuse and ill treatment. The husband is the owner of considerable property, chiefly farming implements, which he was about to dispose of, but the court interfered this morning and an injunction was issued restraining him from so doing.

A big damage suit, which has been pending for some time in the United States Circuit court at Cleveland, brought originally in this county, to recover on the death of Thomas Dolph, late of Wellsville, was satisfactorily settled in the probate court this morning, for $2,800. On November 23, 1888, Dolph was instantly killed near Hammondsville station, on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad, while at work. His death left three children in destitute circumstances. The action was brought, asking $10,000 damages.

David Miller, a Hanover township farmer, filed a deed of assignment in the probate court this morning to Elwood Miller. The assets and liabilities are not as yet known.

A marriage license was issued to E. P. Walsh and M. U. Maher.

A HANDSOME PICTURE.

You Can Get the Group at Harry
MacKenzie's.

Yes, it is a really handsome picture, and the persons represented in the group stand out like living pictures. We have reference to the group composed of Evangelist Schiverea, Sweet Singer Weeden, and Reverends Taggart, Huffer, Lee, O'Meara, Soane and Whitehead, the men who, under God, accomplished great and lasting good for East Liverpool and her citizens, during the series of evangelistic meetings at the Fifth street rink. There should have been one man more in this group, Reverend Carson, of the African Methodist Episcopal church, but his presence could not be secured at the time. You can secure this splendid picture by calling at Harry MacKenzie's handsome studio, First National Bank building.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth company, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me; he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. Our better halves say they could not keep house without Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It is used in more than half the homes in Leeds. Sims Bros., Leeds, Iowa. This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures these ailments quickly and permanently, and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. The Calcutta road is still a terror to the traveling public. If the city fathers would travel this road a few times they would open their eyes to a knowledge of the truth.

It will be an agreeable surprise to persons subject to attacks of bilious colic to learn that prompt relief may be had by taking Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. ACTRESSES OFF THE STAGE.

Comments of One of Their Sex Upon Their Dress and Behavior.

"Dressed like an actress" is the slur we often hear cast by a woman on a badly dressed member of her own sex. Men and women alike are too apt to form their opinions of every one and everything by the more conspicuous instead of by the better side. If we stop to look at the women on our New York stage today, we shall be forced to realize that, as is the case in every other sphere of life, there are women who dress well and others who dress badly.

"The Broadway freak" is the standard from which outsiders often judge women of the stage. This type of "actress" seems to court notoriety by her ridiculously exaggerated dress, bleached hair and rouged face. Outsiders are so ignorant of stage people that they are often surprised to see their favorites appear in a quiet costume on the street. Again, actresses are not callous, though sometimes young people seem to think so, judging by the loud way they make their comments at seeing a public person on the street. One day, Miss George Cayvan, dressed in her usual quiet way, was sitting in a corner of a street car, while some young girls were excitedly arguing as to whether or not it was Miss Cayvan. Naturally annoyed, Miss Cayvan bit her lip, and one of them exclaimed, "That is Miss Cayvan; that is just the way she bites her lip." Miss Cayvan is only one of our many actresses who dress as a lady should on the street.

Miss Maud Adams appears on the stage in showy costumes, while on the street, unless very familiar with her face, one would think her a pretty schoolgirl, who had been carefully taught refinement of manner and dress. Miss Viola Allen, in her neat street gowns, passes by one so quietly that it is not easy to recognize the clever leading lady at the Empire. Miss Bessie Tyree always dresses in refined taste. Her gowns fit her to perfection, and are thoroughly correct.

Mrs. Kendal is about the best dressed English actress we know here. The "city of fogs" has yet more to learn from her gay sister over the channel. One might wish that Miss Isabel Irving would be a little more smart in her dress, and that Miss Katherine Florence would put up that pretty hair. Miss Elsie de Wolfe, when dressed for a reception, almost surpasses her own handsome stage costumes. Miss Rehan looks rather well off the stage, even if her chin is a little high in the air. Miss Maxine Elliott and her pretty gowns make a puzzle as to which is the prettier, the actress or the dress. Who has seen Miss Julia Marlowe, Mrs. Whiffen, Mrs. Walcott or Miss Gladys Wallis without learning a lesson in taste from her appearance?—New York Times.

MANY ODD REMEDIES.

MAN OIL, ANT SPIRITS AND OTHER CURIOUS THINGS USED.

Those Who Use Them Firmly Believe In Their Virtues—Drug Clerks Supply the Demand by Giving Harmless Substitutes and Charging Fancy Prices.

"Aye want dees filled wit' man oil." With this the speaker, a rawboned, stolid looking Swede, handed a dirty, two ounce vial across the counter of a Division street drug store to the clerk. Without saying a word or moving a muscle to indicate astonishment at this singular request the clerk took the vial and disappeared behind the prescription case. In a moment he reappeared, and, handing the vial back, remarked in an indifferent tone:
"Ninety cents."

Being asked to tell something about the traffic in the fat of human beings the clerk grinned.

"I gave the fellow two ounces of simple cerate and charged a fancy price to impress him with the genuineness of the 'man fat,'" said he. "I see no harm in the deception. The fellow has undoubtedly faith in the virtues of man oil, and he wouldn't be happy until he believed he had some. If I didn't sell him some, he would find a druggist who would. The simple cerate will do him just as much good as man oil. We often have calls for remedies as absurd as this. We always fill them—out of the simple cerate bottle if it be an oil, or some other harmless drug if it be something else."

Investigation disclosed the fact that the various portions of the city have their peculiarities in beliefs as to the efficacy of various unusual remedies. In the Swedish settlements man oil is believed to have marvelous virtues in aches and pains when applied externally. Over in the stockyards region and in the southwest portion of the city dog's grease is held in high repute as a specific for consumption. The men in charge at the dog pound declare a great many of the dogs that come to an untimely end in the death chamber there are converted into a superior article of cod liver oil for the use of consumptives. They declare that a number of "doctors" regularly visit the pound and select nice, fat dogs, which are slaughtered by the attendants, to be rendered into oil for the alleged physicians' patients. Not only this, but the patients themselves often send relatives or friends to the pound to get dogs for this purpose. Usually the attendants kill and dress the dogs, receiving a small fee for their trouble. Sometimes the dogs are taken away to be killed. One dealer said he usually got from half a gallon to a gallon of oil from a dog; that the grease resembled lard oil in appearance; that the oil had no disagreeable odor if the dog was young; that the dose was a tablespoonful three times a day. An interesting feature brought out was that after a person had once used dog's grease other remedies would have no effect whatever on him.

On Milwaukee avenue rainworm oil and ant spirits are held in high repute. The druggists have frequent calls for these remedies and they always fill the prescriptions, the former out of the olive oil bottle and the latter with alcohol slightly colored. The Germans believe both remedies are valuable for external use for all sorts of aches and pains, including rheumatism. The ant spirits are also taken internally. In a standard German pharmacopoeia, Dr. H. Hager, in the edition for 1876, gives a formula for making the ant spirits. The directions given are to take ten parts of ants to two parts of alcohol. The ingredients are to be rubbed in a mortar and left to stand for two days. The resulting colorless liquid is then ready for use for rheumatism, paralysis and the like.

Snake oil is regularly quoted in some drug price lists. A man named Schuh at Cairo, Ill., is engaged in its manufacture. John Jones of Phenix, A. T., devotes his entire time to the manufacture of rattlesnake oil, for which he gets $4 a pound, the purchaser to pay express charges. Snake oil is reputed to be valuable for rheumatism. He comes to the city occasionally to work up trade.

Skunk oil is in considerable demand, also for rheumatism. The skunk oil is obtained from the skunk farms, where the animals are bred for their skins. Belief in these remedies is often found among American born people.

In all parts of the city there is a good trade in "love powders," the purchasers usually being of the servant girl class.

"When a girl comes in after 'love powders,'" said a drug clerk on North Street who often has occasion to fill such orders, "I give her a little sugar of milk, which is absolutely innocuous, if she wants it for herself, and tell her to take two doses a day. If she wants it for her 'fellow,' she usually asks for the magic drug in the shape of candy. In that case I give her some worm lozenges. The drugs must give satisfaction, for the orders are frequently refilled."—Chicago Tribune.

Genesis of Cotton In America.

The first planting of cotton seed in the colonies was in the Carolinas in the year 1621, when seeds were planted as an experiment in a garden. Winthrop says that in 1643 "men fell to the manufacture of cotton, whereof we have great stores from Barbados." In 1736 it was cultivated in the gardens along Chesapeake bay, especially in the vicinity of Baltimore, and at the opening of the Revolution it was a garden plant in New Jersey and New York, but its real value seems to have been almost unknown to the planters up to about 110 years ago.—St. Louis Republic.

"Are you doing anything with your camera now, Madge?"
"Yes, indeed. A burglar got into our room the other night, and Nan held him while I took his photograph by flashlight."—Chicago Record.

AN ILL-TREATED WIFE

Wants Alimony From a Very
Cruel Husband.

MARRIED BUT A FEW MONTHS

And During That Time the Life of the
Plaintiff Has Been One of Misery—A
ment.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, April 10.—Mrs. Hettie B. Armstrong, who resides near Signal, demonstrated in the court this morning that married life, to her at least, was not what it is cracked up to be, and brought suit for alimony against Frank E. Armstrong, whom she married less than five months ago. By the petition, it is learned that the couple were wedded on the 14th of last November, and that on Monday, without any apparent cause, the defendant deserted his wife and has since refused to live with her. During the few months of their married life the plaintiff was subjected to much abuse and ill treatment. The husband is the owner of considerable property, chiefly farming implements, which he was about to dispose of, but the court interfered this morning and an injunction was issued restraining him from so doing.

A big damage suit, which has been pending for some time in the United States Circuit court at Cleveland, brought originally in this county, to recover on the death of Thomas Dolphin, late of Wellsville, was satisfactorily settled in the probate court this morning, for $2,800. On November 23, 1888, Dolphin was instantly killed near Hammondville station, on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad, while at work. His death left three children in destitute circumstances. The action was brought, asking $10,000 damages.

David Miller, a Hanover township farmer, filed a deed of assignment in the probate court this morning to Elwood Miller. The assets and liabilities are not as yet known.

A marriage license was issued to E. P. Walsh and M. U. Maher.

A HANDSOME PICTURE.

You Can Get the Group at Harry
MacKenzie's.

Yes, it is a really handsome picture, and the persons represented in the group stand out like living pictures. We have reference to the group composed of Evangelist Schiverea, Sweet Singer Weeden, and Reverend Taggart, Huffer, Lee, O'Meara, Soane and Whitehead, the men who, under God, accomplished great and lasting good for East Liverpool and her citizens, during the series of evangelistic meetings at the Fifth street rink. There should have been one man more in this group, Reverend Carson, of the African Methodist Episcopal church, but his presence could not be secured at the time. You can secure this splendid picture by calling at Harry MacKenzie's handsome studio, First National Bank building.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth company, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me; he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. Fifty cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist."

Lake and Sea Fish.

Our better halves say they could not keep house without Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It is used in more than half the homes in Leeds. Sims Bros., Leeds, Iowa. This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures these ailments quickly and permanently, and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

An interesting feature brought out was that after a person had once used dog's grease other remedies would have no effect whatever on him.

On Milwaukee avenue rainworm oil and ant spirits are held in high repute. The druggists have frequent calls for these remedies and they always fill the prescriptions, the former out of the olive oil bottle and the latter with alcohol slightly colored. The Germans believe both remedies are valuable for external use for all sorts of aches and pains, including rheumatism. The ant spirits are also taken internally. In a standard German pharmacopoeia, Dr. H. Hager, in the edition for 1876, gives a formula for making the ant spirits. The directions given are to take ten parts of ants to two parts of alcohol. The ingredients are to be rubbed in a mortar and left to stand for two days. The resulting colorless liquid is then ready for use for rheumatism, paralysis and the like.

Snake oil is regularly quoted in some drug price lists. A man named Schuh at Cairo, Ill., is engaged in its manufacture. John Jones of Phenix, A. T., devotes his entire time to the manufacture of rattlesnake oil, for which he gets $1 a pound, the purchaser to pay express charges. Snake oil is reputed to be valuable for rheumatism. He comes to the city occasionally to work up trade.

Skunk oil is in considerable demand, also for rheumatism. The skunk oil is obtained from the skunk farms, where the animals are bred for their skins. Belief in these remedies is often found among American born people.

In all parts of the city there is a good trade in "love powders," the purchasers usually being of the servant girl class.

"When a girl comes in after 'love powders,'" said a drug clerk on North State street who often has occasion to fill such orders, "I give her a little sugar of milk, which is absolutely innocuous, if she wants it for herself, and tell her to take two doses a day. If she wants it for her 'fellow,' she usually asks for the magic drug in the shape of candy. In that case I give her some worm lozenges. The drugs must give satisfaction, for the orders are frequently refilled."—Chicago Tribune.

Genesis of Cotton in America.

The first planting of cotton seed in the colonies was in the Carolinas in the year 1621, when seeds were planted as an experiment in a garden. Winthrop says that in 1643 "men fell to the manufacture of cotton, whereof we have great stores from Barbados." In 1736 it was cultivated in the gardens along Chesapeake bay, especially in the vicinity of Baltimore, and at the opening of the Revolution it was a garden plant in New Jersey and New York, but its real value seems to have been almost unknown to the planters up to about 110 years ago.—St. Louis Republic.

"Are you doing anything with your camera now, Madge?"

"Yes, indeed. A burglar got into our room the other night, and Nan held him while I took his photograph by flashlight."—Chicago Record.

VENICE A DELUSION.

An Englishman Finds Its Canals and Distances Not at All Entrancing.

An Englishman who has seen Venice but to be disillusioned writes of his impressions to The Westminster Budget as follows: "Here is a description of what these canals are, taken from my diary, and it is literally truthful, which the poets and the painters never are. On either side staggers a crowd of decayed buildings; from the roof downward they are a mass of squalid ruin; broken balconies cling to the stained and discolored walls, great scraps of plaster have fallen from their fronts as if a leprosy had eaten into them; for a foot above the water the walls are black with slime, the broken windows are stuffed with rags or paper, the shattered steps lead up to doors that swing by one hinge; the steps themselves are slippery with a greasy seum; to the edge of the lower stair there is a fringe of foul green weed—it swings slowly in the crawling water; the iron grilles, once so beautiful, are eaten by bitter salt rust, the shutters hang at all angles, flapping and cracking in the wind; in the crazy balconies there is a lumber of broken flowerpots with dead flowers in them, and through all these reeking alleys the greenish gray water slowly pulses and oozes, covered with straw, eggshells, cabbage stalks and nameless refuse. Over all this brood a hundred filthy and obscene smells, each canal contributing a particularly putrid stench of its own. No longer does Venice sit in state; hour by hour and stone by stone she is sinking into her dishonored grave."

"Night in Venice and music on the canal—that surely would have its old charm. I had pictured the soft air, pulsing with sweet voices, and over all a sky 'thick inlaid with patines of bright gold.'" Well, every night about 8 the singing certainly began, guitars tinkled, and now and then one heard a fairly good tenor voice, but as a rule the men's voices were harsh and worn, and the women's indescribably shrill, and the songs they sang were Verdi and Bellini at their worst—"Ah, Che la Morte," and its companion absurdities. And when once they began they kept on; no sooner had one boatload of singers exhausted its repertoire than another took up its place and repeated the same songs with the same quaverings and tinklings."

Wrong Diagnosis.

"What you need is exercise," said Dr. Morus, after an examination of Mrs. Bellefield, who had called him up by telephone.

"Doctor," replied the good woman, "being an unmarried man, you do not know that bargain days and remnant sales have been going on in the dry goods stores for about a month."

"Oh—er, in that case, what you need is perfect rest. I think I shall have to order you to the Berm
